[redacted] who was proposed by [redacted] to take over the completion of the Glossary checked in [redacted] and said that he would be available in about a month from the above date to work on the Glossary. I explained to [redacted] that the job consisted primarily of a final editing and expert opinion on Russian terminology usage as well as the over all flavor of Soviet intelligence terms. The matter was left open at this point in which either [redacted] would contact [redacted] a month's time or [redacted] would contact [redacted] when he was free to work on the Glossary.
